To whom it may concern

This is a letter of recommendation regarding my student Ida Zakrisson. I am a teacher at Örnsköldsviks Gymnasium Nolaskolan where Ida went to school for the past three years. I have been Ida's teacher in several courses during these years, for example Mathematics and Leadership and Organization.

During her studies, especially during the course Leadership and Organization, Ida has shown that she has the ability to lead groups with a steady hand and is also a warm-hearted empathic person who sees everyone. She has natural social skills and can predict as well as handle complex situations. She is a natural talent when it comes to speeches and presentations in front of different kinds of groups.

There are few students who are so devoted to both their sport and their studies. During her time at Örnsköldsviks Gymnasium Nolaskolan, Ida has shown that she can play soccer on a high level as well as be a top student who is diligent and responsible. I am certain that Ida will exceed any expectations that a university sets for their student athletes.

Ida is also very social. It is easy to understand that her peers look up to her because of her positive attitude. She has truly been an inspiration for other students.

Please e-mail or call if you have further questions regarding Ida or would like further information

Sincerely,

Magnus Wallberg
